

Become an Archive Volunteer

At the RLC Museum we are extremely grateful to our wonderful volunteers for sharing their time and passion with us. Volunteers are integral to our museum and play a vital role in supporting the work we do. Volunteering can offer fascinating and rewarding experiences working behind the scenes and getting an insight into museum life.

Why volunteer?

- Help us make a difference
- Support the heritage of The Royal Logistic Corps heritage
- Become part of a supportive team and community
- Share your passion and enthusiasm
- Learn about military history
- Make new friends
- Learn new skills or practise an existing skill
- Gain confidence
- Opportunity to develop valuable skills and experiences within the museum sector
- Voluntary work experience which can be an invaluable addition to your CV

We are offering an exciting opportunity to join our Archival Team as a volunteer.

As an archive volunteer you will gain experience in handling, cataloguing and packing archives, ranging from historic documents and photographs to books. You will develop your knowledge on military history and learn museum collection management skills, including using a collections management database, location control and preventative conservation.

The role would suit someone who has a good level of computer literacy, has an eye for detail and an interest in military history.

This is a volunteer role of at least 1 day per week or every two weeks for a period of 2 to 3 months, with the possibility of extension. Whether you are able to volunteer often or occasionally, we would love for you to be involved. We offer full training and provide support, supervision to make the most of volunteering with us.

If you are interested in applying for this position or have any questions, please email research@rlcmuseum.com to request the Volunteer Application Form.

Volunteers should be aged 18 or over.
